ACCENT ON MINIMAL - Less is more is still the rule to live by. Minimalist accessories and ergonomic furniture provide comfort and declutter large sections of any room. The new aesthetic streamlines accessories; simplifying and accenting with one ornate conversation piece that becomes the focal point of the room. - Baker

WILD FOR ORCHID- Declared the Color of the Year by the experts at Pantone, Orchid will blossom this year in furnishings, wall color, tile and more. Incorporating the hue into your home can be as simple as a pop on a pillow or an accessory or as bold as an entire sofa. Find it in a piece of artwork or a floral arrangement or as an accent outdoors. - Ligne Roset

TEXTURED TILE- Textured tile in hot new designs add dimension and interest. Patterns appear as if they are in motion, creating the illusion of flowing fabric or the slickness of stone and rock. When you are selecting your hard surfaces keep in mind that these are more lasting pieces of décor. Texture will leave a lasting impression. - Walker Zanger

OUTDOOR ORGANIC- The term organic is taken to a new level in outdoor furniture design this year. It's not just in the material used, but the actual shape of the furnishings is being influenced by nature with a flowing design and less structure. Delicate, gentle curves and raw materials allow the furnishings and the outdoors to blend seamlessly as one. - Dedon

MEN'S WEAR- Furnishings are taking a clue from the man's closet this season. A man's favorite tweed blazer or pin-striped suit can be inspiration for design. Sofas and chairs in textured fabrics, masculine colors and stylish denim are warm and inviting additions to the home. - Minotti

WALLPAPER WOW- Wallpaper is back in a big way for 2014. Bold graphic wallpaper instantly creates visual energy in a room. Wallpaper can add that "wow" factor to a room without the cost of tile, stone or textile fabrics. Larger scale patterns are the modern twist on the luxury and opulence of wallpaper from the past. - Lee Jofa
